The SPECTRE

By CERF ANDSAND

The word for Helen Clark Park, of Carmel, is "resilient." A battery of get-well-wishers showed up at her home one afternoon last week to wish her a speedy recovery from a serious operation. They found her up and about with the usual Park verve...

Traditions die hard in Pacific Grove. Most PG residents will recall the large clock which at one time stood at the corner of Lighthouse and Forest Avenue next to the Bank of America building, but not many people know much of the story behind it - or just what happened to it in past years. Dr. J. V. Williams explained all about the ancient timepiece in the last City Council meeting. Purchased from the proceeds of a concert in 1904, it was kept running by Western Union, the Bank of America and the City of Pacific Grove, in that order, becoming a familiar landmark through the years. When the bank was painted one year, the clock was sent to the SF bay area and forgotten until Bank Manager Harold Davis grew curious and started writing a flood of letters in pursuit. Eventually, the old ticker was found in an Oakland paint shop, shipped to PG and stored in the bank's basement, where it now reposes. After hearing the doctor's story, the City Council, busy with new traffic and zoning laws, took time out to name a committee headed by Elmarie Dyke to consider a suitable location for it. Someone, ducking apprehensively, asked if the council's action could be termed "the return of an old timer."

Should have seen everyone stop chewing their chow Friday night at Cademartori's when Bette Davis walked through the dining room. She was in a party of four, driving from San Francisco to Los Angeles after shooting location scenes at the Curran Theater. Miss Davis said the picture is called "All About Eve," and that Gregory Ratoff is in the cast, making his first screen appearance in 15 years. In her party was a young man she called Gary. Can't recall his name, but he did well as an Airforce colonel in "Twelve O'Clock High."

Carmel Unincorporated Sends Out Questionnaire On Guest Houses

Members of Carmel Unincorporated this week were sent questionaires to ascertain how property owners in county areas surrounding Carmel feel about guest houses already built as well as those for which building permits may be requested in the future. Captain Archer M. R. Allen, president of Carmel Unincorporated, told members in a letter accompanying the questionaire that the action was taken on the advice of the Monterey County Planning Commission.

There are 650 members of the unincorporated group, he said, representing more than 60 percent of the property owned in areas surrounding Carmel. For those property owners who do not belong to the organization, The SPECTATOR prints at the end of this story the questionaire, which Captain Allen urges property owners to cut out of the paper, fill out, sign, and return by mail to Carmel Unincorporated, P. O. Box 2402, Carmel.

In his letter, Captain Allen explained the county regulations regarding guest houses:

"As regulations now stand one non-commercial guest house may be erected on each building site. Inasmuch as only kitchen is allowed on a lot, no kitchen or cooking privileges of any kind are allowed in the guest

MRS. MALLAH GODFREY LULL

Mrs. Mallah Godfrey Lull, 73, died Sunday afternoon at her Carmel home following a lengthy illness. She had been a resident of Carmel since 1947 when she came here with her husband, Dr. Herbert G. Lull, a retired college professor.

Born in Parma, Michigan, Mrs. Lull lived for many years in Emporia, Kansas, where she was a member of the Women's City Club and the Daughters of the American Revolution. Before her marriage she taught school in the South and Middlewest.

Survivors are her husband and one daughter, Mrs. Harriet Culpepper.

The Climatizer now has thermostatic control

The Climatizer, Studebaker's great fresh-air heating and ventilating system, with its equal distribution of warmed air under pressure to front and rear compartments, is still offered as an accessory on all models—but with an important improvement.

Fully automatic heat adjustment is added for 1950. The new thermostatic control makes it unnecessary for the driver to adjust the Climatizer to meet changing outdoor temperature conditions.

The driver merely sets the T-handle dash control for the desired heat output from his Climatizer. Then the thermostat takes over.

Studebaker's Climatizer installation is located under the front seat—where it doesn't take up passenger compartment space, and supplies foot-level heat quickly.

POSTAL SERVICE CUT WILL HAVE SMALL EFFECT IN CARMEL -- BIXLER

Since Carmel has no postal delivery service and no street box mail collections, a recent order from postal authorities in Washington asking that these services be curtailed to some extent throughout the United States will have only a small effect in the village, according to Ernest Bixler, Carmel postmaster.

The order from Washington would cut mail deliveries from twice to once a day, reduce street box pickups and cut down on Saturday business deliveries.

The Carmel postmaster said one item in the revised postal program - the elimination of "director service" - would have a great bearing on the Carmel scene. "Director service" is the re-handling of mail that is improperly addressed. People who send letters addressed merely to "Carmel, Calif." will get their letters returned to them, Mr. Bixler said. Those with no return address will go into the dead letter office.

Mr. Bixler has advised Washington that some clerical savings in Carmel could be effected by closing windows at 5 p.m. instead of 6 p.m., but he has not as yet received any answer to the suggestion. Members of the Carmel Business Association feel that such a move would be all right with business houses in the village.

The edict from Washington was sent out in an effort to reduce an annual deficit in the postal system of a half a billion dollars.

REPUBLICAN WOMEN TO HEAR SHATTUCK WEDNESDAY IN CARMEL

Edward S. Shattuck, candidate for the office of Attorney General of California, is the featured speaker at next week's meeting of the Monterey Peninsula Republican Women's Club. The meeting is scheduled at Sunset School auditorium, Carmel, Wednesday, May 3, at 8 p.m., and is also sponsored by the newly formed Monterey Peninsula Republican Assembly.

Shattuck, a veteran of both world wars, is a practicing attorney in Los Angeles, where he has served as deputy city attorney. He has also held office in the California state bar association, and his record of public service includes terms as president of the California Republican Assembly, the International Association of 20-30 Clubs, and the California Junior Chamber of Commerce. He has also served as associate general counsel of the War Manpower Commission in Washington, D.C.

Shattuck, now 48 years of age, was born in Los Angeles. He earned his bachelor's degree at the University of California, and received his law degree from the University of Southern California. He spoke last Saturday at the Republican State Convention held at Fresno's Memorial Auditorium, and earlier in the week at meetings in Sonoma and Contra Costa counties. He emphasized in these speeches his intention, if elected, to destroy corruption in public office, to stop illegal lobbying, to defend California water rights, and to fight gambling interests.

NOTHING SO PRECIOUS AS YOUNG LIFE

Worried parents of Carmel Woods School children, who must cross busy Camino Del Monte to get to school, have been seeking desperately a means to hire a regular paid traffic guard at the crossing. The Carmel City Council sympathized with mothers who showed up at a recent meeting, but had to inform them that Carmel just doesn't have the money to hire a guard.

Now the parents have decided to ask the county for aid, and they will present their case to the Board of Supervisors on May 1. We wish them luck.

Aside from the work these mothers are doing - they call themselves the Safety Committee of the Carmel Woods School - there remains a responsibility for every man and woman who drives along school zone streets: Drive slowly and drive carefully.

No job, no appointment, no train or bus departure, no dinner engagement, nothing or nobody is more important than the life or well-being of a child. In a society that holds life dear, there is nothing so precious as young life.

Fair Employment Practices Bill Balked This Session?

'Slave Goods' Import May Bring New Tariff Action

SPECIAL TO THE SPECTATOR

WASHINGTON—Senate observers privately predict that the Fair Employment Practices Bill is dead for this session despite President Truman's assertion that he will continue his fight for the Civil Rights proposal.

The FEPC bill received a severe setback when the Democratic policy committee decided to give the right-of-way to the foreign aid measure in the Senate.

So Mr. Truman's chief civil rights measure won't come up for debate before the wind-up of this session and southerners are almost sure to block approval then.

President Truman

The Dixie bloc already has announced its plan to filibuster against the bill and they'll probably be able to tie up the Senate until adjournment.

Senate leaders don't want to hold back other important measures during a fight over this one bill. So FEPC debates may be delayed even further to permit the upper chamber to consider other legislation.

* * * *

● NEW TARIFF WALLS?—Over on the other side of the Capitol, observers think there is a chance of another drive to raise new tariff walls.

A congressional probe into so-called "slave-manufactured" goods produced in Eastern Europe for import into the United States raises this possibility.

Rep. Tom Steed (D), Oklahoma, said the purpose of the investigation which gets underway May 2 is to determine extent of the trade and its effect on American employment.

American manufacturers have complained that the goods are under-cutting the United States product—injuring American employers and causing unemployment.

The complaints fell on alert ears, for the administration is already worried about the more than four million persons presently unemployed in this country.

If the administration decides that new trade walls will stop unemployment, the anti-tariff Democratic party may suddenly switch sides soon and place stiff levies on goods from behind the iron curtain.

* * * *

● FAMILIAR FACES—Another probe on Capitol Hill has brought together some familiar faces.

When Seth Richardson, chairman of the Civil Service Loyalty Review Board, testified before the McCarthy investigation, newsmen recalled that just five years ago he had been a key figure in the Pearl Harbor investigation. Richardson, a Republican, was chief counsel then for the Pearl Harbor investigating committee.

There is another with similar background. Edward P. Morgan, now chief counsel for the subcommittee investigating the McCarthy charges, also was in on the Pearl Harbor inquiry.

Richardson is a former assistant attorney general who served under President Herbert Hoover. Morgan is a former FBI agent who served under FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover.

* * * *

● LUCAS VS. DIRKSEN—Political experts are predicting a much closer race between Majority Leader Scott Lucas and former Rep. Everett Dirksen, a Republican, for the Illinois Senate seat in November's election. Odds are definitely on Lucas but the Democrats are conceding that anything might happen.

Lucas has regained much of the stature he first lost by "fumbling" in the Senate leadership and although much of President Truman's legislative program won't be passed, it won't be Lucas' fault. Even his critics agree on that.

Lucas Has Powerful Support

Observers point out that a leading news magazine picked Lucas as one of the eight top senators, Mr. Truman will speak in his behalf and the Democratic machine is functioning on all 16 cylinders in Chicago where the labor vote is heavy. This, they say, will keep Lucas in.

However, Dirksen's powerful organization, long-time campaign and his effectiveness as one of the Republican party's best orators makes him a tough competitor. Top sources say, though, that Dirksen must come to Chicago from down-state Illinois with a tremendous majority to win the election.

Wharf Theatre is Old Dream of Totheroh's

By Bill Martin

To direct a little theater group on Monterey's Fishermen's Wharf has long been a special dream of Dan Totheroh's, but the Carmel writer-actor-director was frustrated many times because he could not find a building suitable for stage productions. When Ceramist Virginia Blair offered him theater space at the rear of her wharf shop, Mr. Totheroh knew he had found what he wanted. He and Kenneth I. Smith, also of Carmel, with the helpful enthusiasm of many peninsula actors and actresses, started The Wharf Players.

The first production, "Happy Birthday," will star Carmel's Ruth McElroy in a May 18 opening; the play's first West Coast appearance, by special arrangement with Author Anita Loos.

Knowing what he wants and knowing how to do it testifies to Mr. Totheroh's long experience in things theatrical. He started out as an actor in vaudeville, appearing also in early Forest Theater productions under the direction of Garnet Holme. Born in Oakland and a resident of Carmel, off and on, since he was 18 years old, Mr. Totheroh opened the original Theater of the Golden Bough with his own players from the University of California, where he was dramatics director. That was back in 1924. Old Carmelites will recall that Mrs. Totheroh directed his own version of "Salome."

A little later, he wrote his first long play, "Wild Birds," which was staged in New York City and chosen as one of Mantle's "10 best of the year." He stayed in the big city till 1928, writing another successful play, "The Orchard," which was about California fruit pickers and for which he wrote a novelized version called "Wild Orchard."

In 1928, Mr. Totheroh was imported to Hollywood by Samuel Goldwyn, who commissioned him to write the screenplay for "Condemned," starring Ronald Colman. Later he worked for Paramount, writing screenplays for early talkies by Gary Cooper, Clara Bow and Buddy Rogers. Freelancing to other Hollywood studios, Mr. Totheroh wrote screenplays for both productions of "Dawn Patrol," which starred Richard Barthelmess and, later, Errol Flynn. He also penned adaptions for such hits as "The Count of Monte Cristo," with Robert Donat, and "All That Money Can Buy," the screen version of the short story, "The Devil and Daniel Webster," which featured Walter Huston and Edward Arnold.

Mr. Totheroh's play, "Wild Birds," was made into a movie by RKO and his novel, "Deep Valley," which was set in Big Sur country, also was produced in filmland.

"Distant Drums," another Totheroh play, was produced in New York City and also appeared at Carmel's Forest Theater in 1947, the proceeds being turned over to The Boys' Club. Of course, thousands of persons saw his pageant at the Monterey Centennial last year.

With this background of theatrical experience, it is easy to assume that The Wharf Players will be a successful enterprise, even though Mr. Totheroh has initiated an ambitious schedule of plays. Following "Happy Birthday," he will produce and direct Eugene O'Neill's "The Long Voyage Home," Molnar's "The Swan," and Sutton Vane's "Outward Bound."

Members of the theater group are delighted that nature has decided to lend a hand in creating atmosphere for the two sea plays. The audience will hear the soft sound of wavelets washing against the pilings beneath the theater.

"Happy Birthday" will open on Thursday, May 18, to appear on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, and it will run for three weekends. Opening dates have not been announced for the other plays.

Among the casts for productions by The Wharf Players are Ruth McElroy, Ken Smith, Lee Crowe, Larry Rose, Lloyd Weer, Marian Todd, Bruce Ariss, Dee Olivetti, Fred Stevens, Said Riza, Carol McEuen, Joy King, Tom Gardner, Grace McKenney, Chandler Smith and Fred Crawford.

Familiar with the talents of many of these local people, one cannot help but feel that Mr. Totheroh is launching another success.

The SPECTATOR
Carmel, Calif.

Gentlemen:

Although I do not live within the city limits of Carmel, I would like to express my opinion about the manner in which the town at present seems to be growing. I mean all the apartment houses which are being built and for which permits are being issued.

I suppose if people own lots on which apartment buildings are allowed, nothing can be done to prevent their building them; but such buildings will soon change the character of Carmel from the city of homes, which it was intended to be, into an ordinary looking town full of apartments with "vacancy" signs on them. Admittedly, several of them add to rather than detract from the appearance of the village; but there is one under construction now which, if it were on Fremont Extension, would be called a motel rather than an apartment. I am sure Carmel wouldn't dream of allowing a "motel" as such to be built in its midst, but as yet the difference in this structure is not apparent, except that a motel has plenty of off-street parking. I should think the surrounding residents would be up in arms. (They probably are, but what good does it do them?)

Can nothing be done to stop this commercial development? And is the Planning Commission really doing its job?

Very truly yours,
Mrs. J. E. Lambert

MUSICAL ARTS CLUB TO PRESENT ZUNINO IN CARMEL CONCERT

For its next concert of the 1949-50 season, the Musical Arts Club will present Gerald Zunino, young violinist. Zunino is a pupil of Mary Pasmore and made his debut in May 1940 at the California Club in San Francisco. Music critic of the San Francisco Chronicle wrote of this concert: "Young Zunino produces a consistently full and colored tone... an interpretation individual and expressive."

The concert will be presented in the Carmel Woman's Club on Sunday, April 30, at 8:15 p.m., and will feature outstanding works from the romantic and classic schools of violin literature, including the Paganini Concerto in D Major.

Since his debut Mr. Zunino has appeared in various public concerts; especially noteworthy was a concert he gave in May, 1949, at the Holy Name's College in Oakland. Also last year he won a scholarship among many contestants for a summer course at the Music Academy of the West at Santa Barbara.

MPC TO HOLD SYMPOSIUM ON "INTERNATIONAL EDUCATION

"International Education" will be the theme of the symposium held in the Student Union of the Monterey Peninsula College tonight at 8 p.m. A panel discussion, consisting of speakers from Denmark, Germany, Japan, and Persia, will consider the subject, "To What Extent Are the Nations of the World Educating Their People for Individual Freedom and Responsibility?" Following the panel discussion there will be shown a 30 minute Unesco film on "Education in Mexico," showing the steps taken by our neighbor to the south to combat illiteracy. After the film refreshments will be served.

The panel speakers will be: Valdemar Hempel, Army Language School, speaking on Denmark; Dr. Walter Lehmann, Carmel, on Germany; Paul Tekawa, A.L.S., on Japan, and Abbas Seymour, of the Army Language School, speaking on education in Persia. Calvin C. Flint, president of the college, will be chairman.

The panel discussion and the movie will be open to the public, as part of Public Schools Week, and will be free of charge.

Household Hint

Here is a short-cut for ironing slipcovers. While covers are still damp, iron only pleats or flounces, and put the covers on the furniture immediately, stretching them into shape. This method is especially recommended if you're afraid of shrinkage. To remove heavy creases from covers stored during the winter, press with a damp cloth.

Something unusual - and quite dangerous - in the way of fish was caught last week at the southern end of Carmel Beach by Sam Chuck, above left, who is seen with Joe Gustinisky. That unusual something was a 52-inch, 12 pound barracuda, considered one of the most vicious fish in the sea. Several years ago (before the war) a Japanese abalone diver was attacked and killed by a giant barracuda off Cypress Point, but barracuda are rarely captured in these waters. No one knows why this one came into shore, but a possible explanation is that sea lions broke up an off-shore school and chased them into Carmel Bay. Mr. Chuck, above, is foreman for N. P. Van Valkenburgh & Co., the firm which is connecting sewers along Scenic Drive.

Parents Seek School Traffic Guard

The Safety Committee of the Carmel Woods School will go up before the Monterey County Board of Supervisors at 2 p.m. on Monday, May 1, Salinas Courthouse, in an attempt to acquire a crossing guard for children who must cross Camino Del Monte Avenue to reach the Woods School.

A representative told The SPECTATOR this week that parents whose children must cross the busy thoroughfare on their way to school are urged to attend the meeting, as a large representation is desired.

Members of the Safety Committee appeared before the Carmel City Council in a recent meeting and, while the council appreciated the need for a paid guard at two different crossing points, it was made clear that the city does not have the necessary funds to establish such a safety measure.

The Safety Committee, having investigated all possible precautions, feels that a paid guard is the only sure method of protecting school children from automobile traffic. Carmelites are being informed that it is not the visitors who present the greatest hazard to the children's safety. One member of the committee reported that local motorists apparently have grown so accustomed to the school safety signs that they, by and large, ignore them, driving much too rapidly along winding Camino Del Monte. This conclusion was the result of surveys made by parents of Carmel Woods School children.

PG COUNCIL READS NEW TRAFFIC LAW

Passing to print a new traffic ordinance, Pacific Grove's City Council devoted several hours of study to its wording last week, made a number of changes, many of which were made necessary merely because of typographical errors.

One paragraph, for instance, regulated street cars: there are none in Pacific Grove. Another referred to a non-existent traffic zone. A third referred to an incorrect section of the law.

From the discussion came a decision to ban trucks on portions of Ocean Avenue.

A move to make the police chief "advisory only" to the traffic commission set up by the new ordinance failed, although Mayor Chapman and Councilman Pat Coleman recommended it. Other councilmen felt the chief was needed as a full member of the commission, in line with actions of other cities.

Both councilmen made it clear their contention was based on principle, and was no reflection on the popular police chief of PG.

In other action last week, the council accepted a new street for the city system, Avalon Place, between Pico and Dennett at 17-mile-drive.

LOCAL NAVAL INSTALLATIONS PLAN "OPEN HOUSE" AND AIR AND SHIP DEMONSTRATIONS FOR ARMED FORCES DAY

Navy participation in the local observance of Armed Forces Day, May 20, by the military installations in this area will consist primarily of inviting the public to inspect the Navy facilities and functions at the U.S. Naval School, Monterey, the Naval Auxiliary Air Station, the Naval Reserve Training Center and the Coast Guard Station in Monterey.

Each of these separate units will hold an "open house" on Saturday, May 20, from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. The open house will include special exhibits and displays of equipment and facilities which will give the visiting public a first-hand observation of the materials and uses of the different navy stations on the peninsula.

An amphibious ship, the LST 845, will cruise into Monterey Bay and be beached so that the public may inspect it during the weekend of May 20-21.

Among the "open house" features at the Navy School will be exhibits of training aids and materials from all departments of the school. The Naval Air Station will display ordnance and engineering models, emergency and radio and electronics gear. Demonstration trips through the Naval Reserve Training Center and the Coast Guard Station complete the individual plans of these navy units.

Tentative arrangements are being made for athletic events between local service teams, an Air Force and Navy flyover from the Bay Area, the display of a modern navy jet carrier aircraft from San Diego, and continuous armed-forces movies. Joint "Teamed for Defense" Army and Navy demonstrations will be held at Fort Ord with navy radar and planes taking part in an Army ground gunnery display.

I wonder how many of you noticed in a magazine last week a few lines about American railroad dining-cars adopting the French system of service. I was glad to read this because in France that system has pleased everybody. I don't know whether you are familiar with it, so it may require a few explanations:

Before the train leaves, one of the stewards walks back and forth on the platform ringing his bell snd calling (he has been chosen for his strong voice): "Reserve your seats for the diner." You choose "first" or "second service" according to what hour you like to eat. Then, after the train has started, you make yourself comfortable, and pretty soon you begin to think: "I wonder when they are going to call us? - Where is my reservation ticket? - First service? Good, I am hungry!" And you listen for the waiter and his bell. When he appears, everybody goes to the dining-car, not worrying about a table since the seats are reserved. When everybody is seated and the car silent you notice, with "great expectations," a little booklet on the table which turns out to be the wine list and menu. It consists of one basic meal, and several supplements at extra price for people with large appetites. The meal served is always good and reasonably priced. This system permits a rapid and efficient service, the food reaches you hot, the portions are of equal size, and there are no unpleasant surprises when the check is received.

The other day at the cosmetic counter of a drug store I could not help noticing a woman who was very carefully selecting the proper shades of powder, lipstick and nail polish. She was obviously very particular about her appearance. Her hair was nicely arranged, her clothes of flattering colors and well fitting, and her shoes unusually attractive. There was only one mistake: the shade of her hosiery. It is a very common negligence, excusable in England or France, where nylons are still rare and expensive (2 pounds, or $6, a pair in England; 1600 francs, or $5, in France) and one buys what is to be found. A good rule to remember: never wear dark shades of hosiery with light shades of clothes and shoes.

Pleated crepe, flounced fullness.

A little trick of French "salons de beaute": to have thick, but uncaked, eyelashes, and avoid the "over-made-up" look when applying mascara, use as little water as possible on your brush and apply with short, light strokes. If done properly the make-up is so light that it is almost unnoticeable, but emphasizes the eyes...

I have been curious to see how the much talked about permanent pleats were going to look. At last I have seen some - and they are beautiful. This week's little picture shows the Lanvin treatment of this new item. Similar models are available now, in several Peninsula shops.

house. No guest house may be rented to a second party. It must be used only for the convenience of the owner of the main house. If he in turn rents or leases his home the status of the guest remains the same. Under no circumstances can it be legally used as a rental unit, nor can cooking be carried on in it, whether by gas or hot plate or any other means."

Captain Allen stated that because the Planning Commission is aware of misunderstandings of the law and violations, it wants the following questions answered:

"whether or not you want (1) the ruling rigidly enforced or (2) whether you want the ordinance modified to allow the unrestricted renting of guest houses, or (3) the renting after obtaining of a use permit."

"...the object of this letter," Captain Allen concluded, "is to determine whether or not you desire to maintain a highly restricted single residence area or to open it to increased rental development."

To those people who have not joined Carmel Unincorporated, Captain Allen states that three membership drives were held this year and that the rolls are always open. The following questionaire should be filled out, signed and returned before May 6:

ANSWER TO THIS WEEK'S

WHO IS IT?

John Redhead, president of the Monterey Peninsula Community Chest drive for 1950, is featured in this week's "Who Is It?" A resident of Carmel since January of 1945, Mr. Redhead maintains a law office in Pacific Grove, where he is deputy city attorney. Born in 1910 in Vancouver, B.C., Canada, he migrated to California in well-defined stages, attending grammar school in Seattle, high school in Portland, college at Stanford University and law school at the University of California. Mr. Redhead practiced law in San Francisco prior to World War II and, in 1941, accepted a Naval construction contract as superintendent of a shipyard in Alameda, California. When the war ended he decided he might as well work where he would like to live, so he sent letters of inquiry to bar associations in three areas: Monterey Peninsula, Santa Barbara and La Jolla; to use his words: "Here I am." Married in 1934 to Emily Kemp, of San Francisco, he is the father of two: Bonny Lynn, 12, and Pamela, 3. Mr. Redhead took active interest in community affairs in college, where he headed the Dramatics Society and joined Kappa Sigma fraternity. A member of the Monterey County Republican Central Committee, he also belongs to the Pacific Grove Rotary Club, Knights of Columbus, the Elks and the Serra Club. Judging from his past performance, the 1950 Community Chest drive is in excellent hands.

Monterey Peninsula Girl Scouts gathered at the Fairgrounds Sunday for their annual benefit picnic to raise money for the Juliet Low World Friendship Fund. Mrs. A. A. Annand, of Pacific Grove, headed the committee this year. As a part of the affair, each troop gave international folk dances. The young ladies at top, Beverly Trine and Gail Ecoles, of Pacific Grove Troop 18, represent Hungary, while, bottom, Lannel Baker and Janet Crispin, of Pacific Grove Troop 41, depict Swedish folk dancers. Troops operated booths for sale of food and clothing. Contributions to the Juliet Low Fund were poured into a "pot of gold at the end of the rainbow," which was this year's theme. ## Odd Fact

Under a new law, Detroit, Mich., motorists who splash water, snow, dirt, mud or debris on pedestrians "in a careless manner" will be fined.

DON'T "DOUBLE TALK" ABOUT JOBS CANDIDATE WALKER!

● Early in your campaign you DECLARED IN FAVOR of the State Dept's so-called "FREE TRADE" deals.

● Then Someone told you that the STATE DEPT. lets FOREIGN LEMONS come into this country AND SELL FOR LESS THAN WE CAN GROW. PACK AND SHIP OUR OWN. This will finally mean LOSS of JOBS for Lemon workers!

● Also you learned that cheap oil IMPORTED into California WOULD JEOPARDIZE JOBS of OIL WORKERS! And Canadian lettuce threatens lettuce workers.

● SO — In Monterey County. YOU TRIED TO SQUIRM OUT FROM UNDER . . . You "DOUBLE TALKED" about "FREE TRADE". You said Yes you were FOR it — but NOT WHERE IT WOULD AFFECT OUR PEOPLE. You can't get away with it, Candidate. Your RECORD here is "DOUBLE TALK"!
